The At Petrichor Daily

PUBLIC EDITION NO. 32
SUNDAY, NOV 1, 2026

1

Public paper on Saturday, cleared by both reviewers before our 10:00 deadline. Friday's miss didn't repeat.

8

Pages on our website that search engines can now find. Until Saturday, the homepage asked not to be listed.

4 of 5

Of our websites with a working daily visitor count again. The fifth is waiting on one permission.

13

Automated checks on our CAD standard, after a new one confirmed every layer and style name survives export.

BUILT TODAY

A standing goal for the business: earn the renewal. The setup opens the door; the work we keep running every month is what we have to keep earning.

A visitor count that runs every morning before sunrise and names any site it can't read, instead of failing quietly.

THE RULE

Money that comes in every month isn't profit every month. For each client we count what the work costs to keep running, not just what it brings in.

HONEST LESSON

Our visitor report had been broken since May. One site it couldn't read stopped the whole report, so four working sites went dark with it. Now each site reports on its own.

WATCHING

Whether search engines pick the site up now that it's open to them. Their first numbers take a day or two.

Written Sunday morning from Saturday's records and this morning's checks.
